Attorney Harold and Brenda Ray interview Ron and Maida Williams with Loving Neighbors Ministries, an outreach of Church on the Rock in Hialeah (Miami). The Williams explain that loving Neighbors Ministries helps the homeless by feeding and clothing them. Ron gives us the shocking statistics that there are over 30 million people living on the streets without a place to call home. In Miami there are over 5,000 people who live in the streets and in the winter that number doubles to 10,000 homeless. Maida says that she cooks for at least 400 people every Saturday but, this does not even touch near the number of people that are out there. Loving Neighbors Ministries while not able to provide homes for these people, are able to offer a place of refuge through God's Son Jesus Christ.

POLLUTION/ ENVIRONMENT	Joy 0519-89 Jim McClellan interviews Rick Caporale, Senior Vice President of Thorne Environmental Company. They discuss soil contamination which affects the water supply. Such contamination takes place imperceptibly. He points out that often soil is contaminated by hidden gas tanks and exposed chemicals left from previous owners of property. He urges everyone purchasing property to have a careful, historical study made of the property. Property owners can themselves conduct a historical research of their own property. 	tion of them result in depression, fatigue, as well as being a contributing factor in heart disease and other diseases. Author of The Hidden Addiction: How To Get Free, Phelps contends that babies gradually grow into an addiction to sugar simply from the diet given them. Sugar, caffeine and white flour deplete the vitamin source, resulting in various types of abnormal reactions, such as depression, anxieties, anger, irritability, and nervousness. Such emotions contribute to heart disease, arthritis, and cancer.

ILLUTION/EN- VIRONMENT	Carlton Pearson hosts a discussion on the connection between the drought and the Greenhouse Effect. Guests: Dr. John Parker, Director of Environmental Studies at Florida International University, and Leo Mayer, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Economics for the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington D.C. They discuss the possibility of the record drought being just one of the many outcomes of a larger matter called the Greenhouse Effect. With the Greenhouse Effect, carbon dioxide and chloro-fluorocarbons form a blanket over the atmosphere preventing infra-red radiation from leaving the atmosphere. Over a decade ago, scientists predicted a massive drought as a result of the Greenhouse Effect. However, nothing definitively says that the current drought is in fact caused by the Greenhouse theory. That notion remains just a theory, but even the Greenhouse Effect is just "a theory", even though we are experiencing some very real consequences. Mr. Mayer gives some information on the economic effects of the drought, not just on the farmer, but on the consumer as well.

Pat Robertson introduces a special report by Janet Boyd on the status of social security and what can be expected in the future. Although social security is in the black, she points out that in forty years, the fund will be going into the red. One of the factors that contribute to this is, according to Merton Bernstein, professor of law at Washington University, illegal aliens add to the work force, but the smaller work force who pay taxes will reduce the surplus quickly. Pat interviews Dorcas Hardy, the Commissioner of the Social Security Commission, says the surplus is not really a surplus, but a reserve for disability, old age, and survivor funds.
